A LAW BREAKING CANDIDATE.

General George Stoneman, Colonel (retired) in the Army of the United States, Railroad Commissioner of the State of California, and Democratic candidate for Governor, has been openly, continually and constantly violating the spirit of the State Section 20 of Article IV of the Constitution in this manner:

Sec. 20. No person holding any lucrative office under the United States, or any other power, shall be eligible to any office in the State, unless he provide, that officers in the militia who receive no annual salary, local offices or positions whose compensation does not exceed five hundred dollars per annum, shall not be deemed to hold such office.

The office of Colonel in the Army is a "lucrative office under the United States." The office of "Railroad Commissioner" is a "civil office of profit" under the State Constitution. General Stoneman does not receive General Stoneman's or touch his desk as a "constitution-breaker." WILL THE PEOPLE OF CALIFORNIA ELECT A DELIBERATE AND PERVERSE LAW-BREAKER TO THE HIGHEST OFFICE IN THESE GATES?

STONEMAN'S INELIGIBILITY.

The lame and late effort on the part of General Stoneman's friends to relieve him from the charge of being a Constitution-breaker will not bear the test of criticism. The Express of yesterday attempts on behalf of its candidate to explain the matter away by saying that General Stoneman has publicly declared his purpose to resign if elected Governor, and before qualifying, claiming that such action will relieve him from the charge of violating the Constitution of the State of California. But we cannot see that such action will relieve the Democratic candidate. Leaving the question of qualifying for the Governorship out of the question entirely, General Stoneman is now, and has long been, holding the office of Railroad Commissioner in violation of the State Constitution, as is shown by the extract standing at the head of this page. And if he resigns his army commission, it will be a confession of the fact. The Express essays an argument with the object of proving what is the true constitutional interpretation of the word "eligible," and quotes Dests' annotated "Constitution of California" to reinforce its argument. As the section of the Constitution in dispute, and which we have quoted as bearing upon this point, is self-interpreting, and very plain and unmistakable in its language, it requires the service of no annotator to make its true meaning clear. The proviso names all the officers who are excepted from the operation of its provisions, and that proviso does not help General Stoneman's case.

The Express is clearly wrong in its idea that an army officer on retired pay is not an officer "holding a lucrative office under the United States." In the light of section 20 of Article IV of the State Constitution, there is small room for discussion on this point. If Gen. Stoneman holds to the view that his army office is not a lucrative one, why is it that he proposes to resign it in order to qualify for the Governorship in the event of his election?

TERRY, THE DEMOCRATIC LEADER.

The Evening Express attacks Mr. Wells, chairman of the late Republican County Convention, for "demagogery" having used the following language, in his speech at the opening of that convention, referring to the anti-Sunday law plan in the San José platform and to its author, David S. Terry, the slayer of the gallant Broderick:

It is indeed, a pitiful sight to behold the party claiming to be followers and admirers of Andrew Jackson, marching through the country and declaiming to the people that there shall be no Sunday. It is indeed fitting and becoming that that resolution should be formulated and presented for the support of the people of this State by the hand of one dyed in the blood of his fellow-man, etc.

We do not admit that the above language was too strong for the occasion, or for the man against whom it was uttered, or for the party which has made itself his very willing follower. The convention seemed to have looked upon the speech in the same light. Judge Terry (the Express to the contrary notwithstanding) is a leader in the Democratic party—so powerful a one that he forced his pet hobby, to wit: Sunday regulation, upon the State Convention, and thus it made itself responsible for not only Terry himself but Terry's doctrines. The claim by the Express that Judge Terry is not a leader, but "merely a member of the Democratic party," is therefore idle. The party cannot shake off this red-handed inculpation; and must continue to be held responsible for him and his utterances, especially since those utterances have been made a part of the Democratic platform.

The Express protests that "the issues of to-day have no connection whatever with a duel that was fought between two Democrats years ago." Possibly not, had the Terry-Broderick encounter been a duel in any true sense, bad and barbarous as duels are. The conviction, however, was long ago reached by hosts of people in California, familiar with that lamentable occurrence, that it was no duel at all, but a mere pure and simple, under guise of "the Code." We venture to say that the Democratic party will never see the day in California when the slayer of Broderick, the gallant champion of free soil and free speech, will be forgiven anyway!—[Oakland Tribune.]

for his bloody deed; and so long as that party persists in putting forward Terry as its trusted leader, and the trainer of its candidate for Governor, it may expect to incur the enmity of Republicans and many more bold Republicans. The Democratic party is responsible for Terry and Terryism; and, squirm as its organs may, the fact remains.

WILLIAM PENN.

The founding of a great State is such an event that it is well that its anniversary be celebrated; and the character of Penn deserves to be brought before the public of the country, for

"We live on our lives submiss."

We therefore republish with satisfaction the suggestion made in the San Francisco Bulletin, that the landing of William Penn be celebrated on this coast with appropriate ceremonies by the citizens of Pennsylvania resident here. Thus also landmarks are erected in the minds of our people, greatly aiding in piecing together the historical puzzle pictures of the past. Liberty has been evolved by great efforts; and the men who made it implanting freedom of conscience and high moral principles in our country deserve that their fame and labors be perpetuated.

PERSISTENT misrepresentation has been and is being indulged in relative to the much-discussed but impossible railroad-tax compromise in this country. These facts should be borne in mind:

1. The railroad company never offered to pay its taxes due to this country on the basis of the State Board of Equalization's assessment, and never offered to compromise on any other basis.

They were only getting ready to effect that compromise when Judge Field's decision came to their relief freeing them from the obligation to pay any taxes whatever under the assessment as made.

2. The Supervisors consequently never refused to accept such compromise.

3. Had such compromise been effected, and the money paid, it would have to be repaid to the railroad company under the recent decision.

4. The railroad company never offered to pay a sum on account of its taxes, which was once hunted at.

5. As the matter stands, the county is no worse off since the late decision than it was before.

WHEN A Democratic newspaper becomes so excessively partisan and unfair as to declare, or convey the impression, that there were only "between six and seven hundred persons present" at Mr. Estee's meeting here—a thing which the Herald did yesterday morning—it simply destroys its credibility as a fair and frank chronicler of current events. If there was one person at that meeting, there were twenty-five hundred there, and Democratic misrepresentation cannot rub out the fact.

IT IS at last good reason to believe that the narrow-gauge railroad now pushing southward and eastward from San Luis, and which has already reached the Los Alamos valley, in Santa Barbara county, will be continued to Santa Barbara, and we hope ultimately to San Buenaventura, Newhall and Los Angeles. It will penetrate a beautiful and fertile seaboard belt, enjoying a climate of exceptional excellence, and capable of being developed into a prosperous and populous section.

The Republicans are twitted by the Herald because ladies attended Mr. Estee's meeting. We acknowledge the fact and are proud of it. When our wives and mothers, our sisters and our sweethearts become aroused upon political subjects, they are sure to make their power felt, and, felt on the right side—on the side or order, moral, good government and a higher civilization. The women are a power in the land, and well for the Republic is it that the fact is so.

THE Herald is deeply moved in consequence of the Republican torchlight procession and meeting, night before last. It shows that in three or four different articles. It was such a very small demonstration, why in the Old Scratch is the Herald so torn up in its mind about it? The truth is, it was a big meeting, and the Herald is in consequence figuratively rending its garments to show its great concern over the fact.

THE Herald seems to think it necessary to tell its readers that Mr. Estee is a gentleman! Does that paper suppose the Republican candidate needs its patronizing endorsement, or that the great Republican party of California would select a standard-bearer who is not a gentleman?

The Republican county ticket, as completed, is confessedly one of the very best ever presented for the suffrages of the people of Los Angeles county. Sketches of the candidates appear in another column. They contain some good reading.

SANTA BARBARA will hold her annual fair, commencing to-day and continuing to the 29th, inclusive. A fine display of products and stock is expected. Some report of the fair will appear in the Times.

MEN AND WOMEN.

HON. FRANKLIN E. CANNON of Damas, nominated for the Assembly from Placer county, was a member of the Assembly a quarter of a century ago, from Butte county.

COL. DONAHUE will in a short time extend his railroad, now running from San Rafael, down to Raccoon Straits, where it will connect with boats running to the San Francisco.

POINTERS.

The fact of the matter is that when General Stoneman left San Francisco for San José the amount necessary to pay a round trip ticket was advanced by Mr. J. De Bouch Shorb, of Los Angeles, one of the General's neighbors.—[Herald.]

A small hole that to crawl out of when it is not denied that he came up from Los Angeles to San Francisco on his way to the Democratic Convention is the "Code." The party cannot shake off this red-handed inculpation; and must continue to be held responsible for him and his utterances, especially since those utterances have been made a part of the Democratic platform.

The Express protests that "the issues of to-day have no connection whatever with a duel that was fought between two Democrats years ago." Possibly not, had the Terry-Broderick encounter been a duel in any true sense, bad and barbarous as duels are. The conviction, however, was long ago reached by hosts of people in California, familiar with that lamentable occurrence, that it was no duel at all, but a mere pure and simple, under guise of "the Code." We venture to say that the Democratic party will never see the day in California when the slayer of Broderick, the gallant champion of free soil and free speech, will be forgiven anyway!—[Oakland Tribune.]

WHEN the Examiner hauled down the Democratic ticket and announced that the railroad had nominated Stoneman, it was silent. If not, is it silent supporting the nomination? What does it denounce? Is there any sincerity about the institutions anyway?—[Oakland Tribune.]

THOROUGHBRED SHEEP.
Sheep exhibited at the State Fair—
Spanish and French Merino.
Sacramento Co., S. F. Chronicle.

Conversations with a number of exhibitors showed a common interest in this subject. Among these are several raisers of thoroughbred sheep, who, according to their opinion of the situation, the profits of breeding fine sheep had materially increased in proportion to the extent of their operations in this direction. Not only were the profits considerably greater than in breeding graded sheep, but the results were more satisfactory.

SPANISH MERINO SHEEP.

The exhibits in this department certainly bear out this view. The quarters are situated at the eastern extremity of the grounds, where commodious pens have been provided. The first exhibit is that of Spanish merino sheep, of which quite a large number are shown.

The Spanish sheep come into this State from Vermont.

The lambs are invariably even-fleeced and well woolled about the head and legs.

As an instance of the productive capacity of these sheep, it is stated that the average lambing rate is about 150%.
